

Co-creating Community through Heart Mind Intention

Sacred Reflections is an organization which provides national and international, community based workshops and spiritual guidance which facilitate the intention of, co-creating a common sacred dream within and between various groups.

Families, groups and organizations are served, for the purpose of developing culture and community which upholds the structure of all existence in our physical and heavenly worlds.

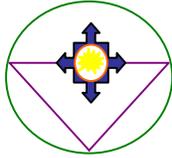

This contemporary program is based in universal traditional indigenous community values, which honor the goal of unity. Unity is the common thread which holds the intention of the group together in the sacred space of the mind heart.

The seed of this work is planted with the Hopi people, on the Hopi Reservation in Arizona, where it's source and ancestry are held in a sacred trust relationship. Hopi means, 'People of Peace', these people hold the desire of all beings to be in peace with self and community. Within the heart space of communion, compassion and co-operation..... Co-creation of a common mind heart intention can be held as the sacred heart, in community.

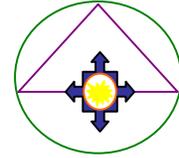

Through creative ancient indigenous methods of story telling, art, song, dance and personal creative expression, tools are shared as gifts in this expression of Unity.

These tools are shared as a gift which rekindles the primary human senses in the center of each individual human being. The development of our personal relationship in divine nature, cosmic nature and divine human nature are the essential keys to finding out what is important to each of us as individuals, family, group and community members. Through the heart space of communion, compassion and co-operation, new co-creative relationships with community can be developed and Unity can be a reality.

It is now, during these times of intense universal transition and transformation that these tools are being brought back to aid the human race in remembering our common life purpose as Being InLove. I am honored to share these gifts with all who desire to share in the Story, Song and Dance of Being InLove .

SACRED REFLECTIONS
Center for Transformational Awareness
Mission Statement

All services are given in the Intention of Natural Order as Co-Creation.

Natural Order as Co-Creation

When one can give to another in center and balance, a gift is given.

When this gift can be received from the other in center and balance, a gift is given and received.

When gifts are exchanged in the heart space of giving and receiving, harmony is expression in Light, Color and Form from intention of Communion, Compassion and Co-operation and have the facility to become Co-creative.
